TESTIMONIAL

As a small rapidly expanding business, I was finding it increasingly difficult to cope with the increased workload as well as planning for the future of the business.

John Collins from Ology has acted as my business coach and mentor for the last 10 months. His knowledge and support has been invaluable for the successful growth of Johnson's Catering Equipment Ltd. John has been a great sounding board for my ideas. He has encouraged me to look at the business in a different way by stepping out of the box and look at the bigger picture. This has enabled me to plan new strategies for the business and we are now expanding into new markets, developing new products and new clients – we are growing faster than ever with renewed strength and capability.
