Dear Andy,

I would like to give you my heartfelt thanks for the assistance you have given me in my business.

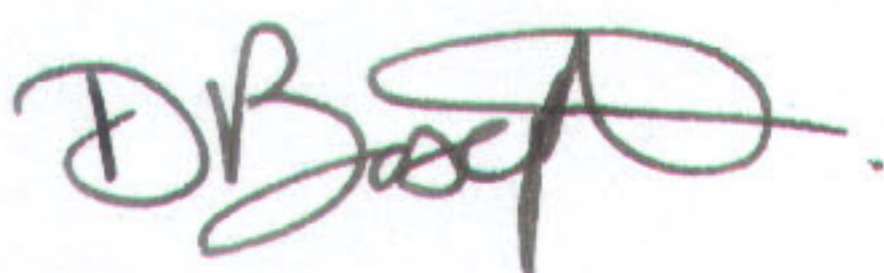

After just 8 weeks I can already see significant improvements in the way I run my business; greater organisation including better systems to monitor and track where my business is coming from. Most importantly, a change in the way I look at situations with a positive slant on everything.

Your abilities of listening and interjecting at the right moments have been key in me making some key decisions about the business. There is the belief that all business coaches are the same; NOT so and you have succeeded where others have failed!

I look forward to working with you over the coming weeks to look at the next stage of developing my business; creating one that clients really value.

Once again, thank you.

Kindest regards
