Dear Martin

A belated testimonial:

When I first met Martin as a business coach my first thoughts were that with my experience and success I do not need a coach. So when I decided to meet Martin for the first time I was pleasantly surprised, he was not pushy he listened intently and not many people do that but on agreeing to use Martin for 3 sessions to become 4 sessions I found him excellent.

He is professional, methodical, thoughtful and able to take what you say and feed back in a positive and constructive manner that helps you move forward towards your goals.

Above all though I believe he is flexible to deal with most management/people styles mainly because of his past experience in high positions himself but also because of his ability to listen step back from the problem or idea and get you thinking more positively, more structured, more flexibly and above all helping you become more specific and targeted.

I would not hesitate in recommending his services to all business executives/owners no matter what stage they are at.
