TESTIMONIAL

John Collins has been associated with The Hive for the last two years, initially as a panellist providing assessment of the presentation of final business plans and for the last 12 months providing mentoring to a wide range of businesses started within The Hive.

John's knowledge and wide experience as a consultant has been beneficial in providing a critical assessment of business plans across a wide spectrum of commercial ventures and his insightful comments, guidance and signposting from his wide network of contacts invaluable in his role as a mentor to the founders of those early-stage businesses. Although most of John's experience may primarily have been with larger and more established companies the lessons there apply equally to growing new start-up businesses and John has been instrumental in translating that vision and ambition to the entrepreneurs he has been mentoring.

Yours sincerely
